The system adopted in connection with the Sanitary Board of confining the franchise to those whose names appear on the jury list sufficiently guards against any danger of a preponderance of Chinese being elected. Needless to say we approve of the Indian system in so far as it provides that the number of unofficial members should exceed the number of official members. The result in Iudia, we are told in the official report already alluded to, is that municipalities do more for the benefit of their citizens under the heads of water supply, hospitals and dispensaries, streets and roads, vaccination. drainage, sanitation, and education than was done before by Government officers. It is true complaint is made that the local bodies are slow in incurring expenditure and are seven days, and thence going to Singapore. HANSARD" AND PARLIAMENTARY  $oldsymbol{REPORTING}.$

In a mamorandum just issued to the members the House of Commons the editor of " Hansard's Parliamentary Dahates" describes the conditions under which the contract for the official reporting of the debates is now parried out, and suggests a considerable number of midiin existence for nearly rinoty years, and its volumes now reach the goodly number of 413. The arrangements between the Government changes since the year 1855, up to which time the work had been produced entirely at private expense. The existing contract includes reporting, printing, publishing, and sale; and the contractor may exercise his own discretion as to the length of the reports, " provided that no speech be "reported at less than one-third of its length as delivered." and that debates in Committee and on private Bills be reported with the same fulness as those on public questions. Mr. George Walpole, the editor, objects to several of these conditions, and calls the present system a failure. In the first place, he strongly protests against the policy of including in one contract two such dissimilar elements as professional reporting and the commercial business of printing. It is in fact impossible, he says, to carry out an arrangement of the kind without the adoption of some tort of farming or sub letting a system which has been strangly condemned by the present Houseof Commons. Then, as we have long known. there is great dissatisfaction on the part of thinks that no system of condensation could escape fullure. He gives several illustrations of reasonable grounds for complaint; for example, a front-bench speaker may reply "elaborately "to an argument of Mr. X. That gentleman "will be exceedingly irate to find his own speech "out down to one-third, while a verbatim report "is given of the reply to it." On the other hand, we are reminded that, while it had hap pened several times this session that a member has been directed by the Speaker or Chairman to resume his seat on the ground that his speech was todious or irrelevant, "Hansard" by its condensation credits the speaker with argument concise and to the point. Mr Walpole advecates "verbatim reports of the flag shewing to the Southward, and the Eng. and break it to the governor. I wish he did not he would not be so cruel as to adopt the strict meaning of the word "verbatim," and plainly tells us that " thereare few men in Parliament or anywhere else whose extempore "speeches would beer actual reproduction." adopted happy phrase of Mr. T. P. O'Conner's,-"a rational verbatim report," which means that all grammatical errors, falsestarts, and so forth would be corrected, but that the report would be in other respects absolutely faithful. Another of his suggestions is that the speeches should all be reported in the first person, which it seems is in accord with the wishes of the majority. Mr. Walpole surprises us with the information or connected with agriculture, the Tropical Agriculturist stands unrivalled, the work being constantly in the hands of Native as well as Enropean and American agriculturists. Being a Monthly Periodical, the Tropical Agriculturist lies on the table and is very often referred to Mr. W. T. Thiselton Dyer, F.L.S., C.M.G. Assistant Director of Kew Gardens, writing of the T. A. refers to it as "an astonishing repertory of everything relating to the economic, botany of the East." For the sale of plants, seeds, machinery
